

Miami Herald

February 12, 2017

Circulation: 97,974 / UMV: 14,115,279

CREW-Miami Presents: "Active Design Miami: The Gateway to Designing and Building Healthier Communities" As Miami evolves into a world-class destination, design is playing a protagonist role in how buildings are conceptualized, public spaces activated and roadways built and renovated. At the February luncheon, CREW-Miami will explore the newly created Active Design Miami, a series of evidence-based policies and strategies to create more sustainable buildings, streets and public spaces.

Under the leadership of the Miami Center for Architecture & Design, a team of public and private sector professionals created the strategies and is now working with Miami-Dade and 10 local cities to adopt and implement them. Join us at the February luncheon to learn more about the program and hear from an expert panel how it aims to